DANS LA TENTE

As Long As The Heart Keeps Beating

Imagine a chance encounter with an unknown person. Being close with it in this room provokes a glance; our mimic bespeaks an emotional impulse. We engage in the situation and start a small talk. Being from the same kind, we wish this moment would never stop. We don't know who we are and what is happening to us. Together we start to walk into what the future brings.

Let's turn back the clock. Imagine a chance encounter with an unknown person. Being close with it in this room everything starts to freeze, our mimic keeps unimpressed. We do not engage in anything and keep holding our tongue. We will never be familiar. Being embarrassed we want this moment to stop right away. We don't know who we are and what is happening to us. Our way will not even cross in the future.

Destiny is playing hazard as long as our heart keeps beating.
